Just starting the discussion for this week!

Unfortunately I don't think there's any beating the hotdog graph, but we sure can try :)

Ha ha! Yes, I wanted to check when you all might have time to talk this week. Would Tuesday at 5:30 PM work? I have class at 6 PM, but I could hop on a call before that. If not, we could also chat on Wednesday—let me know what works best!

Side Note:

Looking at our grade feedback for Module 01, I think Dr. Wallin may have reviewed our old repository. It seems like he isn't giving us any credit, even though I uploaded a significant amount of information. I think it might be a good idea for us to send an email to clarify—would you all be okay with me drafting one and sending it later today or tomorrow?

One advantage of using Git is that we can show timestamps and proof of when we actually did the work, which should help our case.

Yeah, I'd be open for 5:30 on Tuesday! Wednesday works too, but I think meeting before the due date would probably work better.

Oh yeah, that would make more sense - I was wondering why he wasn't giving us credit for any of our collaboration work? (In hindsight, I probably should have changed the readme in our old repo to point to the new one - oops...) If you would send an email about that, that would be great!

5:30pm this Tuesday works for me. I can also do Wednesday if need be.

I saw that email – thank you so much for sending that! I'll be busy this afternoon but I'll start working on my section of the paper this evening.

Hi All – Haven't heard back form Dr. Wallin – One of us, may want to ping him again in tomorrow?

I addition I am working on the all the notes and will be hammerian way on the paper until about 10pm. Let me know if you need more time or if we are all good.

Thanks!

How are we feeling about the paper?

🙂

Kwoods132 15 minutes ago   Collaborator | •••

I'm finished with my section. It looks good to me unless there's something else we feel like we need to add.

🙂
